BALTIMORE is in a fair way to experience Fisher-man's luck.

The state democratic executive committee will meet this s.m. at 11 o'clock at the Marlboro House.

Such base ingratitude! The Kennebec Bloody Shirt abusus us like a pick-pocket because we advocated the right of colored republicans to sit in meetings with their white party friends!

When it comes to pass that a man by the absurd name of Mulligan can pull down to earth the demi-God of the radical tribes, there is some hope for the democracy to win a victory!

Ten "K. B. S." says the CONSTITUTION is "in—on niggers," but it was a radical ex-governor in the state convention who said: "Can't somebody make that d—d nigger dry up?"

This is no time to try "wild experiments," or to venture on madcap schemes!—Chronicle & Sentinel.

Our opinion, exactly! Withdraw the "circular," and fall back into line. No bolting allowed in this centennial year!

"This is no time to subdivide the interests of a party to the wishes of a clique of ring-tosses and slate-makers!"—Chronicle & Sentinel.

This is our opinion to a dot and is why we can't appreciate the "true inwardness" of that secret "circular."

One week from to-day the national republican convention assembles in Cincinnati. Ere then how many hours of scheming, trading, bullying, slandering and undermining will be done by the friends of aspirants! It is not a pleasant thought to an American.

The Chronicle and Sentinel says H. V. Johnson "shall have a fair showing in Richmond county." "You bet, he will get it in Barlow county," answers back the Warwick of Cartersville. How sweet and pleasant it is for brethren to dwell together in unity—the ring!

Cot. Fuchs of the Griffin News says: "It is a remarkable coincidence that Atlanta whisky never kills, unless previously tampered with to preserve snakes, lizards, etc." Strangely enough we did not recall anything with which that fact coincides except it be the personal experiences of the Colonel.

Blaine's attempt to stir up the war feeling by his desperate harangue on Monday was a dead failure. It was his last card and he played it with the intensity of despair. Proctor Knott deftly threw the "yester" and swept the trick in. Blaine therefore is a ruined gamester of the vilest political stripe.

The Savannah Joe Brown organ speaks of the doings of those enterprising and liberal paying advertising agents, Bates & Locke, of New York, who, like Joe Brown, do not hesitate to put their money where it will do the most good! Still, the organ did not accept the offer of the firm, though it went for that of Joe Brown.

The Augusta organ says "this is no time to abandon established custom or to depart from party usages." "Correct, Ring Organ!" And, by the way, we never heard that it was either "established custom" or "party usage" to burrah a nomination for governor through a convention by the aid of "circulaires!"

The "K. B. S." says the CONSTITUTION is the "big thunder of the Bourbons," who try to deprive the negroes of their rights! Who deprived them of their rights in that city hall meeting? Who swindled them out of their representation in the state convention? The bigger will long remember who did those things.

The Kennebec Bloody Shirt says "The Conservatives ain't much on democratic rascality but is it—on 'niggers'!" This seems to be a mistake, for we have to watch the radicals around here very close to keep them from cheating the niggers out of their rights. The CONSTITUTION has been their tool in need.

Thus the August Chronicle and Sentinel: "The friends of the candidates for governor assert that Herschel V. Johnson will not accept a nomination. All such statements are wholly unauthorized. Gov. Johnson is perfectly competent to speak for himself. Let the people beware of false statements and 'snap judgments'!" But the people must recall that all this was said before that "singular" trick was discovered. Take the above in connection with the "circular" and what is it worth?

Is there anything in the world that makes us feel good natured, gentle, happy, "trolly loll" and anxious to go to the centennial, spend all our money, drink spruce beer and eat ginger-cakes, throw fire-crackers under the feet of nervous old women and patriotically lay the deuce generally it is to read things like this from the Harrisburg (Pa.) Telegraph (Simon Cameron's news organ): "We impudently object to Bristow's locality. We will never vote for any man for president who had the misfortune to be born south of the line!"

These doorkeepers seem to be a bad lot. One of them pummeled his grocer, who is described as a small man, the other day because he wanted his money. This is all wrong. "A bigger man than ole Grant" ought to hit a man of his size.

THE STATE CONVENTION.

The state democratic executive committee convenes in this city today for the purpose of perfecting the delegation to the St. Louis convention and of fixing the time and place for holding the state convention.

The first labor will soon be over with and the latter duty will be found more difficult to discharge. With reference to it we have a few words to offer and they are to urge the committee to fix the time of holding the state convention at the earliest possible date. We take it that it is not demanded of us to recapitulate the several reasons for this action as both the intelligence and observations of the committee will readily suggest them. And then it should be reason enough for them that the people desire it so.

From all over the state the voices are coming with the request that the convention be not deferred later than a date in the third or fourth week of July. It is desirable that the convention should assemble at a time most convenient to the people of the country and when it may be attended with the least expense by their chosen delegates. In addition to these reasons there are others which are more important to be duly overlooked. The masses are growing jealous of their rights and privileges and do not think well of any action having the semblance of dictation about it. They would indignantly antagonize a second time. And in a matter of this magnitude it is the interest of the people which are to be regarded and not those of individuals which might be subserved.

We sincerely believe the committee will best please those whom they expect to represent by calling the state convention to meet one or two weeks prior to the first of August. There has been quite enough priming for the occasion and any further and unjustified delay will not be looked upon with favor. The atmosphere already and the raising of another cloud might bring about a devastating storm. These things are worthy of consideration and we trust the committee will act in the wisdom which it certainly possesses and the fidelity to the people's rights which we feel certain is one of its characteristics.

These suggestions we offer in all good spirit and for the best interests of our cause and to-morrow we hope to say that we merely anticipated the action of the committee.

THE "HANDING OVER" CIRCULAR.

The indignation of the people of Georgia is always wisely tempered but it will take its most decided form when a full understanding is reached of the scheme recently dragged to light the purpose of which was to betray them into a nomination for governor which they had not contemplated as in anywise possible. The fact that they are being subjected, surreptitiously, to this manner of manipulation will have too many of the elements of political buss-wacking about it to preserve them in very patient temper. That any combination of men should attempt thefeat of capturing a convention of the people's delegates by a system of trap trapping and manufactured influence is enough to invoke the wrath of the gods.

THE "CIRCULAR" is played out. His bag is hooked for Salt River.

THE independent English journal will write in expressa in tomorrow's.

PARTED BY the name of Turney's a going to connect A. T. Stewart's with Mill's.

A GENTLE hint—a man was poised in Baltimore by putting a black lead in his mouth.

MR. BLAINE must sometimes wish he had the power to put his audience under to keep the peace.

THE BALTIMORE Sun advocates appealing to every dead notice the name of the doctor.

THE Petersburg Index-Appeal says: "It is a remarkable coincidence that Atlanta whisky never kills, unless previously tampered with to preserve snakes, lizards, etc." Strangely enough we did not recall anything with which that fact coincides except it be the personal experiences of the Colonel.

Blaine's attempt to stir up the war feeling by his desperate harangue on Monday was a dead failure. It was his last card and he played it with the intensity of despair. ## IMMIGRATION.

From various causes, not necessarily here to be recapitulated, less attention has been given by the people of Georgia than of any other southern state to the important subject of immigration. Now we believe the people are gradually arousing and considering the subject, and that it will be only a few years until we will unite upon it as the one great need of the country. To descent upon the advantages of judiciously controlled immigration into a country would be to rehash a threadbare subject. To Georgia it mainly appeals for encouragement in the great impetus which it would give to both the agricultural and industrial interests. The introduction of a shrewd and experienced class of farmers would be an astonishing benefit to the new system of agriculture which our people most hitherto foster and pursue.

As an evidence of the interest felt in the subject we insert here a timely article from the columns of the Thomasville Times, which, in speaking of immigration, says in Angus case in political circles. Indeed so dull and uneventful are our surroundings that we are obliged to turn our attention to politics in order to find pleasure in the political field; however, we are disposed to forget the dulness of the times and our attention is at once engaged by the spectacle which is presented to our view. The outlook from our stand point is distinct and the jaded figures in the arena of politics are not to be despised.

Nothing of any importance is going on in Angus case in political circles. Indeed so dull and uneventful are our surroundings that we are obliged to turn our attention to politics in order to find pleasure in the political field.

Give back the letter I wrote there,
It is the last letter I ever wrote there,
Is the office was mailed to go there,

I have no place to go.
A counsel shall be there.

Georgia Const.

Dewberries are plentiful in Griffin, John L. Hardin has been appointed stereographic reporter of the Brunswick circuit.

During May there were 18 white and 25 blacks married in Chattoga county, seven whites and one black born, 24 whites and 15 blacks died.

The Atlanta telegraph company has finished their line to Jefferson, and the rates have been reduced to a minimum.

An agricultural society has been organized in Darien with the following permanent officers: T. P. Pease, president; Capt.
W. H. Atwood, vice president; Richard
W. Grimes, secretary and treasurer.

Mr. W. C. Herold, T. J. W.
Webb, of Walton, is a Baptist minister of considerable reputation as a divine in his locality, and, on last Sabbath was a week, he came over to preach in a church in Gwinnett. After service was over, he had a general meeting of the brethren, as is customary among the hospitable people of Gwinnett. It happened that a number of persons were traveling the same road. Mr. Webb and an other man were in a buggy. Just before they got to town a man was riding a mule. Now, when a mule sets its head to do some devilmint, it does the very thing you did not expect it to do. We have heard of weather prophets, crop prophets, and the like, but we never heard of a mule prophet—the world has never furnished a soothsayer so good.

As the party were chatting along, not dreaming of danger, a buggy suddenly dashed up behind them, and the mule jumped over the hind axle of the buggy and his weight against the wheels injured the buggy over, and the mule and its rider, Mr. Webb and his companion, were pulled up in a heap in the road.

There was a general scuffling around to see who could get up first, and Mr.
Webb, having fortunately landed on top of the mule was the first to get up, and in a minute after them, including the mule and its rider, had got up.

Whether it was fore-dained that the minister should land on top or was a mere accident, we will leave him to discuss, as we are not disposed to wade into as deep water as this inquiry would lead us.

The presentation of prizes by the Augusta society for the prevention of cruelty to animals was a success. There were 27 colored and 1 white competitor. The ages of the horses and mules ranged from 6 years to 30 years, with an average of 13 to 26 years.

The time driven, ranged from two months to 13 years, and aggregated 126 years and 11 months. Rev. Robert Irvine delivered an able address in presenting the prizes, and said:

I feel it is my duty to offer a very cordial vote of thanks to our most amiable and humane patrons, in whose name I might truly say the fact toot of this society, Miss King, whose "works of faith and labors of love" are known not only in Georgia, but throughout the whole continent, and in the mother country.

To her noble conception of mind this society owes its origin; to her indefatigable labors thus society owes its success;

To her large-hearted generosity the recipients of these and former prizes are indebted for their well earned rewards.

The Supply Depot, the Body.

The stomach is the grand supply depot of the body, upon which it draws for all elements needed in the composition of bone, muscles, brain, &c., &c. An accurate anatomy of this mighty organ, and two are most intimately connected. Nothing so certainly ensures harmonious action as these viscera, and so completely removes the disorders which simultaneously affect both, as Hostetter's Stomach Remedy, which is specially contrived to enable the stomach to wrench the bowels, and the bowels to wrench the stomach.

For the stomach, and to assure a perfect action of the bowels, and to remove the effects of constipation, nothing is more efficacious than Hostetter's Stomach Remedy.
